50 Buildings Are Wrecked In One Town

Terror Prevails as Severe Windstorm Sweeps Wendell — Houses Wrecked — Trees Uprooted by Freakish Wind — Relief Workers Busy.

(By The Associated Press)
ALEXANDRIA, La., April 5.—The death toll here as a result of the tornado which yesterday swept Alexandria and Pineville small towns across the Red River was placed today at 20.
A check by the authorities develops that, undertaking establishments in the city and the bodies of 20 victims. The list of injured was placed at 60 more than 3 of whom are in the United States Veterans Hospital. The property damage was placed at $500,000.

(By The Associated Press)
WENDELL, N. C., April 5.—Struck late last night by a tornado which injured about 25 persons, destroyed 50 buildings, wrecked others and damaged crops, Wendell, a little town in eastern Wake county today was the scene of emergency workers as those hurt were given attention and attempts made to discover the storm's toll.
After what was described as "a night of terror," and inability to obtain sufficient doctors, the situation here was in hand and no calls have been made for outside assistance, though several persons have been taken to Raleigh. The tornado believed to have started in the edge of Johnson county, took a northerly course east of Wendell. A freakish path of wrecked buildings, uprooted trees and other wreckage left as the wind moved from place to place, demolishing all in its course. A mile from Wendell, a little town suffered damage estimated at $15,000. Several negro tenants were hurt and Mrs. E. C. Cozart also received injuries. The wife and a small son of John Debnam, negro, were killed by a falling chimney. "I think it's going to be a cyclone," the negro woman said, as she peered at the dark sky. She went back to the supper table and today members of the family said that was the last thing they remembered until they came to in the debris. Timbers in a shape unrecognizable as part of a house are scattered for 250 yards, said a physician who was at the heavy rain. "The negroes were terrified and did not know what had happened." The farms of J. C. Collins, Charles Johnson, Norman Deans, W. T. Roberts and W. R. Johnson are among those damaged by the tornado. Livestock is reported to have been killed, tobacco barns torn from their foundations and packhouses torn to shreds. Many roads in the territory are blocked or washed out by the heavy rain. According to the tornado and accurate reports of the storm's toll are slow in coming in. There are many conflicting accounts of damage but officials except an estimate during the day.

Mail Robber Shot In Recent Getaway Leaves a Hospital

Despite His Three Wounds New Yorker Climbs Down Knotted Sheets While the Guard Is Out of Room.

(By The Associated Press)
ATHENS, April 5.—Following his sensational escape from the hospital where he was recovering from bullet wounds under guard of a deputy sheriff, Gerald Chapman, gang leader in the million dollar mail robbery in New York in 1921, early today had not been apprehended. Chapman escaped from the hospital by means of sheets knotted together last night when the guard momentarily left his room.
The escape is the second staged by Chapman within little more than a week. The first was made from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.
That time he won his way to freedom from a hospital ward with another prisoner.
They were caught near here afterwards and engaged in a fight with a constable. Gray was taken back to Atlanta, but Chapman, three wounded, was brought here for treatment.
Chapman effected his escape clothed in a suit belonging to the guard. Shortly before his temperature was taken by a nurse, it registered 100 degrees. Physicians said Chapman's physical condition was such that he could not proceed far without the aid of an automobile.

As briefly put by the conferees today, the president desires to go into the section west of Mississippi to "feel its pulse." As tentatively mapped out the swing of the President to the West provides for 15 to 20 addresses in various cities. In this address.

Name Candidates In Prize Campaign In Today's Issue

Names of the candidates who have been nominated in the Register-Bee's $10,000 "Everybody Wins" automobile and cash prize campaign are to be found in this issue.
Today marks the real beginning of the shortest, most liberally arranged campaign that has ever been announced in this section.
Most of those whose names appear in the list of the candidates have not indicated whether they intend participating actively in the campaign though all have been notified of their nomination and asked to call at campaign headquarters. However, if it is not convenient to call in person, you may telephone 21 or write. Any additional information wanted or assistance will gladly be given.
In Sunday's issue and Monday's Bee, the first count of the votes will be shown.
By entering now, a candidate can have an equal opportunity to land any one of the five automobiles, including the $14,150 Lincoln for up to this time, little has been done by anyone. Those who have either sent in their own nominations or who have been nominated by some interested friend, making preparations for the actual starting of the campaign which is now at hand.
In just six and one-half weeks, the Register-Bee's campaign will come to an end and then though the biggest prize distribution in local history is now on the eve of its beginning, there is only a very short time left for the most important part of the whole campaign—the present first period. By Tuesday the votes will be decided. Very soon the votes will be decided. Now the maximum vote schedule is in effect. Never at any time will there be any change made in the vote schedule—never again will the maximum vote be lowered. Subscription as during the present time.
Subscriptions are plentiful—the field has not been touched. Most everyone you ask will be glad to subscribe. It is the Register-Bee when you once ask them. Subscriptions mean votes and votes mean the winning of these five brand new cars and hundreds of dollars in cash. Votes and votes alone are all that is necessary to win the prizes. The $14,150 Lincoln, the $10,000 Chevrolet, the $6,640 Ford sedanette, the $3,980 Ford roadster. Wouldn't any one of these cars be splendid play for spare time effort in the next few weeks?

Easter Lily Seeds Now Grown In U.S.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 5.—Easter lilies can now be grown from seed in this country. Once it was necessary to depend upon imported bulbs from Bermuda. Then Japan got into the market and ten million bulbs have been imported from the Orient.
But now, says the scientists of the American Nature Association, better as well as earlier maturing lilies can be produced right at home. This is the result of six years of study at the Arlington Experimental Farm in Virginia at the foot of the hill crowned by the Memorial Amphitheater, where lies the body of the Unknown Soldier.
The individual grower can raise his own seed by purchasing imported bulbs either in the early winter or at Easter when most of the plants are in blossom, and grow seed for planting the following January. The Americanized lilies blossom in from 15 to 18 months. This decrease the exposure of the bulbs to disease and insects needs up their commercial production.

Officer Shoots Dog In Street

Police Sergeant Martin at 3:30 this morning shot and killed a hound dog which gave every indication of being mad. The officer was coming down Main street when he saw a number of people coming up Main street pursuing a large dog. Seeing the officer, some of the pursuers called out to him and urged him to cut the dog off and kill it. According to the officer and others who saw it the canine was snapping at everything which came in its path and was foaming at the mouth while its tail was wagging. The dog turned down Main street and Sergeant Martin withheld his fire lest some injury be done. He followed the dog, however, and came up with it in front of Cobb and Craves on Patton street. He first shot at the dog behind the shoulder and the animal turned and ran towards the courthouse where it fell. Sergeant Martin then quickly put the dog out of further pain by a second shot in the head. The dog was not a police dog and the identity of the owner is not known.

He won his game, 7 to 2, four days after his sentence expired, but then shock hands all around and left the prison. The authorities don't wish Steve any hard luck, but they frankly admit their team won't amount to much unless Steve comes back.

Macon Police Seek Bright's Assaults

Seek Release Of Alleged Murderer On Habeas Corpus

Habeas corpus proceedings were instituted today in the corporation court by counsel for Andrew Wallace, negro, who is being held in jail here for the murder of Mary Ford Bailey, also colored. The writ is returnable tomorrow morning at nine o'clock before Judge Price Witches.
It is claimed in the petition that Wallace is illegally detained and that there is no evidence against the man that he committed the crime.
The case presents rather unusual aspects. While the police department feels certain that Wallace killed the woman it is virtually admitted that he held no legal evidence against the man who was captured in Caswell county and brought back to Danville recently. When the woman was shot she was taken to Providence hospital. Thither Police Sergeant Haraway and Edwards went to secure a statement from the woman but on arriving there they found that she was under the influence of an anaesthetic, an operation having been performed in the hope of saving her life. The officers left the hospital and a few days later heard that she had died. A check-up of what evidence the police had failed to reveal a single link of evidence which might be introduced against Wallace who denies that he is the author of the crime.
At a preliminary hearing, however, the mayor felt that he should be held for grand jury investigation.

Negro Confesses To $3,700 Theft Of 3 Months Ago

that the negro paid $450 cash on the machine and in this amount one $50 bill. The car was purchased under the name of Joe Goings, a friend of Robertson. The officers then kept close tab on the negro, watching his movements closely and taking particular notice of how freely he spent his money. Soon after the purchase of the machine the negro opened a well stocked store in White Town and the officers went there on one occasion, but did not catch him in the store.
A few days ago the theft of the automobile wheels were reported and suspicion was pointed towards Robertson. He was seen driving his car which had black wheels and taking particular notice of how freely he spent his money. Soon after the purchase of the machine the negro opened a well stocked store in White Town and the officers went there on one occasion, but did not catch him in the store.

Robbery Which Occurred at Knitting Mill About Christmas Comes to Light With Arrest of Will Robertson.

A $3,700 robbery which occurred last December at the Danville Knitting Mills, was revealed by the police this morning, who placed under arrest last night Will Robertson, negro, who was charged with having made a complete confession and is now in jail. The money, which included $1,700 in currency, $1,200 in liberty bonds, $200 in war savings stamps, one $100 gold piece and $100 in the property of Harry H. Heard, head bookkeeper of the mills. None of it has been recovered. The negro says that he has spent the money and that he destroyed the liberty stamps and notes by burning them up. The solution of the robbery last night came after a three months' investigation on the part of the two local police detectives J. C. Lewis and J. N. Campbell. Robertson has managed to elude every effort of the police in trying to get evidence against him until recently.
The arrest last night was made by Detective Lewis at Robertson's home on Wilson street. He was taken in custody for the theft of two automobile wheels and three from M. K. Koplen on Wilson street and one from Mr. R. B. James on Main street. The wheels were extra ones carried on the back of the machines. The officer had obtained evidence against the negro and it was on this charge that he was arrested, although he had been suspected by Heard and the police from the time of the robbery, but no evidence could be obtained against him. Robertson was put through a grilling examination and finally broke down and made a complete confession of the robbery and related facts.
Detectives Lewis and Campbell have been investigating the robbery quietly since the matter was reported to them after Christmas by Mr. Heard. They have kept a watchful eye on the negro, who was an employee of the mill. Mr. Heard reported the theft from the mill to the police when he discovered it after the Christmas. He does not know the exact date at which the money was taken but explained that he remembered seeing it there on December 23rd. He had no occasion to go into the money again until a few days after Christmas, when he found it missing.
The suspicion of the police grew stronger about six weeks ago when Robertson purchased a Dodge automobile and then opened a store at White Town. Investigation revealed

Potatoes Helped Girl to Dance

By JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT
NEA Service Staff Writer.

NEW YORK, April 5.—This is a tale of a lovely girl.

Boiled and salted it formed the early diet of Miss Aling Cummings of San Antonio, Tex.

Mashed and salted it carried her through the perils of Texas ranch life. Baked and salted it sustained her in New York where recently she danced continuously for 27 hours and established a record for long distance dancing.

During the time that she was establishing her record, Miss Cummings exhausted one hand, two talking machines, 12 dance records, one pair of shoes and eight partners.

The first of her partners danced for seven hours and then fainted. The second danced for five hours and a half and then collapsed himself as it was Sunday morning and he was anxious to go to church. One by one six other partners took their place, only to retire van and defeated.

Tireless Dances On.

The tireless Miss Cummings danced on. Eventually George Madara, her first partner, after a rest of nine hours, returned to the fray and finished with her in triumph.

By her feat Miss Cummings has eclipsed the record of a Frenchman, Cesare Leone, who danced for 14 hours in Paris, and of an Englishman, Victor Hindmarsh, who last month established a record of 25 hours.

And now she is challenging the entire world to outdance her. She says she can dance 40 hours continuously. She wasn't in the least tired, she says, when she concluded her record-breaking dance. Statisticians figure that if she had danced in a straight line, she would have danced 66 miles or more than two-thirds of the way from New York to Philadelphia.

What is the secret of the young woman's indefatigability? A vegetable diet, generally, potatoes specifically. "Cummings doesn't see how she could get along without them. But alas, they can't be deked cut with butter, nor hashed in cream nor disguised with a rich coating 'au gratin'."

"I don't eat a bit of animal food," explained the champion. "Neither

MISS ALING CUMMINGS AFTER HER WORLD'S RECORD DANCE OF 27 HOURS

"Stuck to a vegetable diet. 'Sleep nine or ten hours every night.'"

"When the actual test comes, keep your mind off everything. Just joke and have a good time."

"Anybody can dance 24 hours," she says. "All that is needed is will-power. The only other time Miss Cummings ever participated in an endurance dance was several years ago when she and her brother danced 13 hours 'just for fun'."

"Anybody who wants to outdance me will find the following tips useful: milk, no butter nor eggs nor cheese."

ALL AIRMEN NOW MUST USE A PARACHUTE

RANTOUL, Ill., April 3.—All persons riding in government owned aircraft are now required to wear a parachute on every flight, according to officials at Champaign.

A parachute course has been added to the training courses at the field and during the last year, fifteen Naval Air Service and Marine Air Service came here from the United States and Hawaiian departments for instruction in this course.

The course is extended over ten weeks of intensive training during which time each student is required to make several jumps and is instructed in the care, construction, repair and use of the parachute.

The air service has adopted two styles of parachute, according to the officials. One is the seat pack and the other is the pack. The seat pack folds up and acts as a cushion for the man to sit on. Both styles are about twenty-eight feet in diameter when open and are made of a high grade of silk, having a tensile strength of forty to fifty pounds per square inch.

These styles have been in use for about one year and, according to the officers, who state that thousands of tests have been made and every condition, such as tying knots in the cords, folding the parachute in tangles and releasing them in all kinds of weather. It is stated that when the rip cord is pulled the parachute will open outside to see what it is of a second and with a two hundred pound weight attached will fall at the rate of about 16 feet a second.

VRANIAC STORY NOT BELIEVED

(By The Associated Press.) BUFFALO, N. Y., April 4.—A message sent from here today to a Knights of Columbus publication in New York stating that Father J. A. Vranjak, the missing Illinois priest, had been "captured from his abductors" and was being returned to his home, is regarded by the Buffalo police as the work of a crank.

The message was sent from the Lehigh Valley station branch of the Western Union Telegraph Company shortly before noon and was signed by "J. C. Perrine." Under the signature had been written and partly obscured the words "Perrine National Detective Agency, Buffalo, N. Y."

Detective Chief Zimmerman, who had been asked by the New York police to investigate the sending of the message, said there is no agency bearing the name of Perrine here and who is listed in a recognized national agency.

The sender of the message did not call at the telephone office to make inquiries for the money order in response to his request to "wire reward offered at once."

618 MEN ALLOWED STATE FOR CAMP

RICHMOND, Va., April 4.—Virginia is entitled to send 618 young men to the citizens military training camp to be held at Camp Meade, Maryland, during the month beginning June 25.

Announcement was made to this effect today at the headquarters of the Eightieth division, where it was explained that early publicity was given the Virginia allotment in order that qualified young men desirous of attending might not delay making application for admission.

Regret was expressed that Virginia would not be awarded more than 618 places at the camp. The number, it was stated, was Virginia's part of the 3,800 men to whom training was confined in the third corps area because of the limited appropriations made by Congress.

The places available in Virginia have been distributed on a basis of military population, so that no favoritism can be charged. The largest quota in the state is that of Norfolk county and city and Portsmouth—fifty-seven men. The quota of Richmond city and Henrico county is forty-seven. The quotas of counties that contain no large cities range from seventeen in the case of Wise county downward. The number of men who will be accepted from the average county is six or thereabouts in case any county fails to utilize the places to which it is entitled, they will be distributed elsewhere.

The citizens military training camps authorized by Congress, are declared by the Virginia committee to offer the best facilities now available for physical training and the mastery of the fundamentals of military arts during vacation Young men between the ages of 17 and 24—older men are admitted if they have attended a previous camp—are allowed their railroad fares to the training camp in Maryland, are clothed and fed at the government's expense and are given active instruction under competent physical directors, along with their drill and military training. From start to finish the month's activity need cause the young men nothing except the pocket-money he chooses to spend. No obligation to military service at any time or in any form is entailed by attendance on the camp.

The Virginia committee recommends early application on the part of young men anxious to attend. Application should be made to the Headquarters of the Eightieth Division, Seventh and Franklin streets, Richmond, Va. Upon receipt of the application directions as to physical examination, etc., will be forwarded. The committee stresses the fact that within the limits of the Virginia quota the rule of "first come first served" will be observed. The first applicants from a county who pass the physical examination will be accepted.

ASSAILANTS STILL AT LARGE

"Suffered Rheumatic Torture For Years"

Now Restored to Perfect Health

Read What J. C. Jones, of Winchester, Ky., Has to Say About ALLENRU, the Sure Conqueror of Rheumatism.

"For years I was a sufferer from the torture of rheumatism. My limbs (feet and hands) would swell to almost double their normal size. I suffered intense pain day and night so that I could hardly eat or sleep. I had very little hope of ever recovering from this most dreadful and painful disease. A friend of mine seeing how despondent I was over my hopeless condition advised me to try ALLENRU. I went immediately to the George Drug Company in Winchester and got a bottle of the internal treatment and a bottle of the Liniment to use externally. For the sake of other sufferers I wish to say that the results were simply marvelous. After beginning the combined treatment the swelling began to reduce and the pain left me entirely. I continued the treatment until I had taken only two bottles which effected a complete cure. Today I positively feel that I am very fortunate in finding a remedy that has relieved me of the distress and the almost unbearable pains from which I suffered. For the past five weeks I have been working 12 hours a day and haven't even a symptom of rheumatism or ache or pain." Signed James C. Jones.

Every druggist in this country is authorized to say to you: "If you suffer from rheumatism, get a full bottle of ALLENRU, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to ston the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment."

ALLENRU has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished even in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless. You are sure to get it at McFall's Drug Store—adv.

Commissioner of Agriculture G. W. Koiner writes me that the sources of plant food in the brands of fertilizer put out by one of the companies from whom we have been ordering as stated in the application for registration are as follows: Available Phosphoric Acid—derived from Acid Phosphate. Ammonia—derived from Fish Scrap, Tankage, Nitrate of Soda, Sulphate of Ammonia and Vegetable Meals. Potash in "Gold Leaf" and Farmers, Sensation derived from Sulphate of Potash, Kainit, and Manure Salts.

Again let me urge you to make up your orders and send them to me as soon as you can. As I said about the seed orders last week, if the market goes lower I will give you advantage of the decline and if it goes higher I will be compelled to follow it.

One company that puts out some of the best and most carefully prepared fertilizer on the market is furnishing us Sulphate of Potash exclusively in our tobacco fertilizer, but requires the order two weeks before shipment is made in order to prepare it for us. So send your orders to me two weeks before the shipment is to be made if possible and tell me when you want the fertilizer shipped and to what bank you want the draft sent. Remember the prices published last Thursday are not cheap prices for cheap fertilizer but the lowest cash prices for the very best grades of fertilizer.

Lime Prices

When we can get the best Ground Limestone for $1.45 and Limestone-Marl for $2.25 f. o. b. the plants and the freight on the Marl to South Boston is only $1.00 to Danville, $1.20 and to Randolph and a number of other points $1.30, we certainly can afford to use Lime. We pay for what we need whether we get it or not and if your land needs lime you are paying for it even if you do not use it. Try to apply some this spring. It will pay you in larger crop yields and in increased soil fertility.

Seed

Let me have your orders for seed. If the market goes lower I will give you advantage of the decline and if it goes higher I will have to charge you more. For prices read my advertisement in last Thursday's paper and save it as you will want to refer to it again.

FARMS WANTED

Remember I have buyers for Virginia Farms of all sizes. If you have one you wish to sell send me a description of it and your lowest net price as it costs you nothing to sell. I add my commission to your price. You get the advantage of my extensive advertising campaign in the North and West at no expense to you.

VIOLENT HAIL STORM LASHES DANVILLE AND NEARBY SECTION

Danville and this immediate section was visited at half past six o'clock this morning by one of the heaviest falls of hail recorded for many years. While the storm lasted less than ten minutes it left considerable damage behind it. Trees in early bud were lashed and the sidewalks and yards beneath them were covered with fragments of buds and slender twigs which readily succumbed to the elements. The hail was preceded by a typical equinoctial storm which broke at daylight with intermittent flashes of lightning and thunder.

The hail came without warning and with it came a breath of frigid air. In North Danville the hail appears to have been heavier than on the southside. City firemen reported that the hail stones were to be found in the streets as large as guinea eggs and that the streets were covered with them. The rattle of the hail lawks with many people earlier than usual and in some households fears were expressed that the hail driven by the wind would break windows. No such damage has been actually reported. This morning reports began to pour in from the surrounding country. In the Keeling and Whit section the hail storm was characterized as the worst recalled for a long time. Calls were received by hardware men for rubber roofing which in some instances was punctured by the weighty hail stones. It was even reported that tin roofs on farmhouses and barns had been dented. It is feared that the short but sudden sweep of the storm did far more damage to fruit trees than was done by the recent frost for the buds were cut and in some instances limbs severed by the falling hail.

Considerable apprehension was felt here this morning for the hundreds of tobacco plant beds which were damaged or destroyed. One farmer reported that the canvas on his plant beds had been ripped and torn and the fragile plants mutilated.

Mrs. Cummings Flu Victim At Pulaski

Mrs. James H. Martin this morning received news of the death of her sister, Mrs. Virgie Cummings, wife of Dr. W. W. Cummings at Pulaski. Mrs. Cummings was taken ill two weeks ago with influenza which developed rapidly into pneumonia. She passed away at half past one o'clock this morning. Mrs. Cummings was known in Danville by reason of frequent visits to her sister. She was here only last February returning from Danville to Pulaski where she was taken ill. She was a daughter of Mrs. J. S. Bondurant who usually lives part of the year with her daughter at Danville but who just now is visiting in Henry county. Besides her husband, Mrs. Cummings is survived by two small children.

VIRGINIA POLITICS BEGINNING TO SEETHE; MANY HAVE FILED

RICHMOND, Va., April 4.—Virginia will hum with politics this year. For in addition to the bond issue referendum, the election of a member of the state corporation commission and the choosing of members of the state Senate and House of Delegates, the people of the hundred counties of the state will elect their local officers. And at this last which causes the heart burnings and animosities which arise when neighbor is a candidate against neighbor.

This is not the year for the cities to elect their local officials and it is not the year for the counties to elect the clerks of court, but it is the year when the counties their treasurers, sheriffs, commonwealth's attorneys, commissioners of the revenue and magistrates, and already the woods are full of candidates though the campaigns are not yet in full swing. Amherst county already has fourteen candidates announced, one of them being a woman, the delegates to the Democratic nomination for county treasurer. In other counties candidates are blossoming out from day to day.

Down in Southwest Virginia the campaign has begun on a first. There where the Democrats and Republicans lock horns over every question and every office, the question of the payment of poll taxes is a great consideration and both parties endeavor to stir their machinery working not later than March, so that their supporters will have poll taxes paid by the beginning of May, and therefore be qualified to vote this year. Encouraged by the spasm of the year in the congressional contest of last year which followed the breach in the Republican ranks made by Trinkle in the gubernatorial contest of the year before, the Democrats of the North have taken the game and elect local tickets and make the state of Virginia Democratic from the Atlantic ocean to the mountains of Kentucky.

For the first time in many years the Democrats of Tidewater county, long a Republican stronghold, have named a full ticket for county officers. They have in addition, at their mass-meeting, endorsed an independent candidate for the legislature.

While conventions will be the order of the day in the southwest, the majorities of the Democratic candidates will be nominated at the August primary. The Democratic committee of Spotsylvania county met Monday and ordered that all county officers be nominated at the primary.

No contest is on this year for governor or for United States senator, but much interest is being shown in the choice of members of the general assembly. This year members of both the state senate and house of delegates will be chosen the senators for four years, the delegates for two. In this the cities are as much concerned as the counties.

The redistricting acts now in effect make the first changes in legislative districts since these inaugurated under the constitution of 1902 and in those sections of the state where there has been a considerable shaking up of old political associations the old-line politicians are feeling their way to find out where they stand.

From a state-wide standpoint the vote on the referendum in regard to a $50,000,000 bond issue for good roads will be the feature. The fight between the advocates of a bond issue and the gasoline taxers will begin in the next few weeks, but will not reach its high point until after the August primary. The vote on this question will be cast at the November election and is expected to determine for four years the policy the state will pursue in regard to financing the building of roads.

Harding Plans To Go Back To Childhood Home

(By The Associated Press) MARIETTA, Ohio, April 5.—When he leaves the White House President Harding plans to return to the scene of his childhood to become a gentleman farmer and to spend his time writing. This was announced by a home town friend of the President, following his purchase yesterday of the farm in North Bloomfield township, Morrow county, where he was born. The purchase consists of 265 acres. The land is described as rolling, with corn the principal crop. The house in which the executive was born still stands, though in a state of decay. At present it is used as a storage for farm machinery. Whether President Harding plans to repair it is not known to his friends. He has told friends that he expects to pay a visit to the farm in July.

—Mrs. S. P. Smith and son James, of D. M. L., have returned home after spending a pleasant Easter in Washington, D. C., with her sister, Mrs. J. E. Williams.

—L. Herman is in New York City on a business trip and is stopping at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

Good Morning Judge!

Few cases were on the police blotter for trial in the mayor's court this morning, which lasted but a short time. George D. Hunder drew a fine of eleven dollars and costs for an alleged assault on John Crawley. A warrant against Posey Aldrich, charging him with assaulting Crawley also, was dismissed. Hunder and Aldrich were both assessed eleven dollars and costs for being drunk. Warrants against Henry Shelton, Clarence Lonon, John Mitchell and Piez Farmer, charging them with trespassing on the property of the Southern Railway, were continued until tomorrow.

Flight to Arctic Set For June

L. M. Uppercu and C. F. Redden and Four Friends to Seek Polar Game.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The aerial expedition to the Arctic for big game, announced last November by Ingalls M. Uppercu, president of the Cadillac Motor Car Company, is to take place in June. It was also learned yesterday that a second flying party is to fly ahead of the hunting party to make arrangements for fuel supplies and landing camps.

The expedition was projected jointly by Mr. Uppercu and C. F. Redden, president of the Aeromarine Airways, Inc., of which Mr. Uppercu is the owner. Their guests are to be Howard

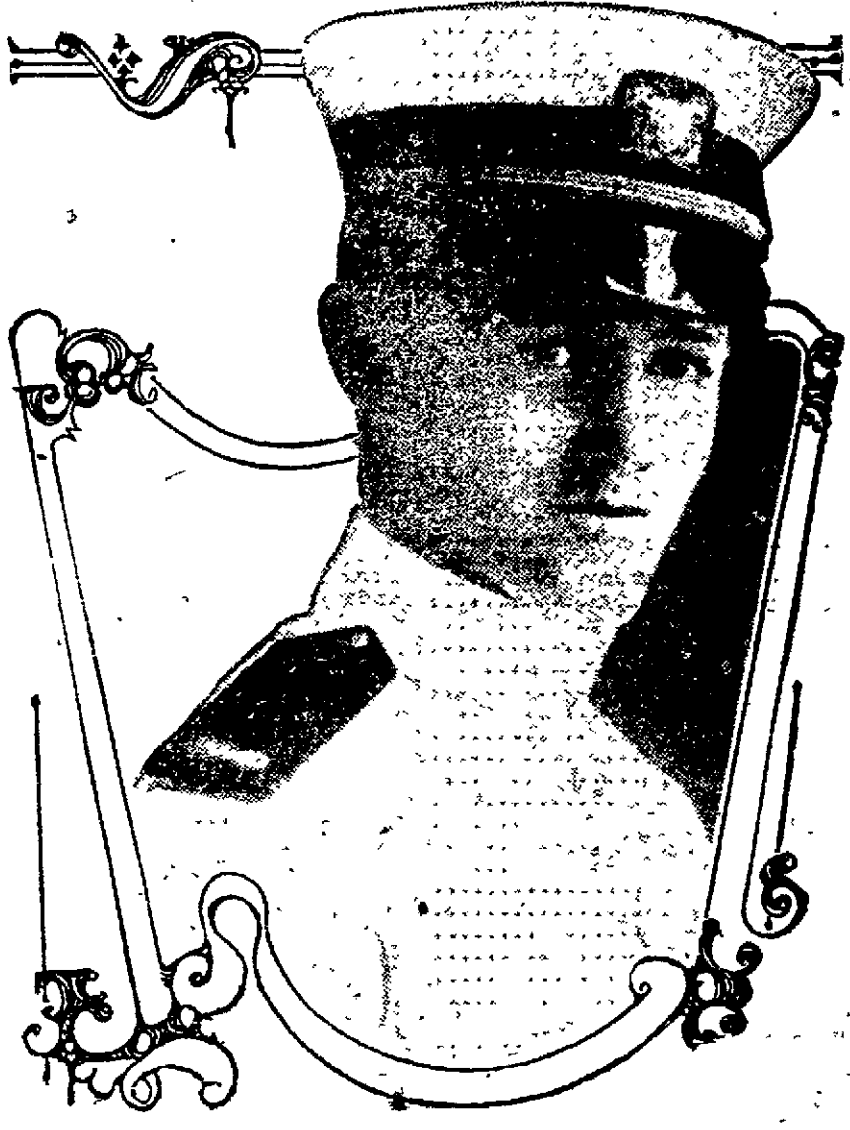

J. Coffin, automobile engineer, and president of the National Aeronautic Association; Harold H. Emmons, president of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce; Dr. James W. Innes, Police Commissioner of Detroit; and William D. Metzger, president of the Detroit Athletic Club.

These men are aviation enthusiasts, big game hunters and close friends. Their mutual desire to "have a whack" at polar bears and walrus led to the organization of the expedition, which should make it possible for the hunters to spend two weeks near the Arctic Circle and be back at their desks a month after the start in New York.

The big flying boat, Polar Bear, nearly completed at the Keyport, N. J., factory of the Aeromarine Airways, Inc., is of the American Navy F-5-L type, with 104 feet wingspread and 50 feet overall length.

The second boat will keep in touch with the larger one hourly by radio. A motion picture record of the expedition is to be made by a photographer aboard the Polar Bear.

MORE THRILLING than a Jules Verne romance were the adventures of Warrant Officer H. B. Smith on the famous Sub Chaser "Seneca," which left him almost a physical wreck. He gives Tanlac full credit for complete restoration.

HUGH B. SMITH

The many deeds of daring and heroism—thrilling rescues and hair-raising U-boat attacks—in which the U. S. submarine chaser Seneca, participated from the Mediterranean to the North Sea furnishes one of the most interesting chapters of the entire conflict.

The price that Hugh B. Smith, warrant officer on the Seneca, paid for his gallant part in these hazardous encounters was a nervous system so shattered that he broke down completely. "What I saw and went through," said Mr. Smith, "would leave its mark on any man. For two full years my nerves were at high tension all the time."

"When I got back to God's country, the reaction set in and I broke down completely. I was terribly nervous and irritable, had no appetite, and could not sleep except when exhausted. I was also about fifteen pounds under weight, all of which I could not regain until I had taken Tanlac."

"I resigned from the Navy but soon found out new environment and duties made no improvement in my physical condition."

"Finally a friend persuaded me to try Tanlac and after taking six or eight bottles of Tanlac I had gained fifteen pounds, was back to my normal weight, and felt completely recovered. Tanlac was a life-saver to me, and I heartily endorse it."

Mr. Smith is branch manager for the Singer Sewing Machine Co. at 201 Flatbush Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., and resides at 163 Westcreek Ave., Staten Island.

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 15 million bottles sold. Accept no substitute—adv.

SAGE BRUSH

What does it mean to you? The name spells dreariness, loneliness, a God-forsaken wilderness to many—a desert region fit only for the coyote and jack-rabbit. To others, the sage-brush vista rolls back a vision of the future, when water from distant streams will transform the desert into fertile farms. But to all, it suggests adventure, frontier chivalry, cowboys and thrilling events, when mentioned in connection with western fiction. A splendidly written story of the sage-brush areas of Nevada is

Scoop's Colym

DRAKES BRANCH, April 5.
(Grapevine Wirephoto.) Joe Doolittle, the popular lumber, who lives in the vicinity of Green Street Park, is a constant reader of this column of Scoop's Colym. He wants to know why all the benches have been taken out of the park—or, why they have not been put back so the people can sit out under the trees and enjoy themselves. Joe is something of a fresh-air and health enthusiast, and is worried about it. He sees no reason for removing the benches at all, for we have many warm, sunny days in early spring and late fall, and even in the winter months. Joe has a suspicion that the park committee fears that the benches would be commandeered for firewood if left out through the cold months, and in any event would have to be painted and repaired for summer use. Of course, the benches are a little worn, but they are put there for the comfort and convenience of those who use the park and we see no reason for carrying them off to rust in storage while the people are denied the pleasure of resting their weary bones.

Courting couples just have to keep walking. They can't sit down and hold hands any more; they must wait for the good old summertime—and then church festivals are held about three times a week and these lawn parties spoil the green acres as far as jove-sick swains are concerned. A guy without an auto is in a fellophax, according to our plumber friend, who is in sympathy with the foolishness of youth—as long as his wife does not check him too close.

We will be glad to urge the replacement of the park benches just as soon as we can find the ear of the designated City Father who looks after these details. The situation is serious, and we are willing to help out. Keep up the good work, Joe, and you will be a hero yet.

Don't cry, girls, you can have a car of your own. The Register and Bee are giving away FIVE of them, including a DADDY LINCOLN and a BABY LINCOLN. Get busy!

Swedish System Helps Pay the Rent and Taxes

STOCKHOLM, April 4.—In Sweden a man does not have to remember to pay his rent, his income tax, or his insurance premiums, nor suffer the penalty of forgetting, if he joins the General Installment Fund and Payment Bureau, a co-operative service institution which announces the completion of its organization in Stockholm.

This unique bureau is organized for the purpose of relieving its members of all personal worry and inconvenience in making payments of all monthly quarters, semi-annual, or other periodic dues, and generally to encourage thrift and financial preparedness for meeting such personal obligations.

The operation of the bureau is as follows. Membership is secured by paying an admission fee of three crowns, or about 15 cents, and membership dues of 250 crowns. The member then instructs his employer to deduct weekly or monthly allotments from his pay. These are sent direct to the bureau, and must be large enough so that the sums accrued will cover the payments of rent, light bills, insurance premiums, taxes, and other recurring dues which the bureau meets on account of the member. There are even loan funds at the disposal of members who are in arrears upon entrance.

Besides the handling of general installments for the interest of its members a saving department is maintained, as well as a department for the writing of insurance policies.

ENGLISH TAXES ARE OVERDUE
LONDON, April 3.—Many million pounds are due the British treasury from unpaid super-tax and income tax assessments, according to the chancellor of the exchequer, Stanley Baldwin. The total amounts to about 118,500,000 pounds, or approximately $590,000,000. The income tax arrears alone amount to 95,000,000 pounds.

In Great Britain and northern Ireland there are approximately 5,000,000 people with incomes above the exemption limit, but the tax liabilities of roughly one-half of this number are covered by personal allowances, deductions and reliefs.

Foreign Trade Council Will Analyze Europe

NEW ORLEANS, April 4.—European conditions as relating to world trade will be the theme around which the National Foreign Trade Council's tenth annual convention will be held, according to an announcement made by O. K. Davis, secretary of the council.

"This subject is by all odds the overshadowing factor in our foreign trade and domestic prosperity today," said Mr. Davis. "In spite of all that has been said on the subject, there does not yet seem to be a clear understanding of the part which Europe plays in our daily life. More than one-half our exports are sent to Europe, more than one-third of our imports come from Europe. Under such circumstances every man, woman and child in the United States is vitally interested in present European developments."

The first session on May 2 will be devoted almost exclusively to reports on the European situation and conditions, trade barriers and trading in the face of depressed exchange.

The May session will take the form of interest in foreign trade, the need of foreign trade zones and foreign trade facilities of the Federal Reserve System.

The inland waterway transportation, railroad service and the general shipping situation throughout the world will be the subjects before the convention on May 4.

Oni declared he will buy anything from wire nail to a steamship. If ordered to substantiate the latter statement, he announced he had just purchased the old steamer Missoula from the quartermaster department of the United States Army.

CARNARVON'S TRAGIC END.

The death of the Earl of Carnarvon, who made possible the discovery of the tomb of Pharaoh near Thebes, from pneumonia induced by the bite of an insect is a tragic one. Whatever may be our individual views on the question of disturbing the dead it remains a fact that this man died a martyr to science and archaeology and that he was cut off at the zenith of his career. He had vowed only briefly the rich reward which had come after years of personal hard work and the expenditure of a fortune and he goes to his grave without a definite knowledge of the value to the present generation of the discovery he had made. He did know, of course, that he had set a new milestone in archaeological research but it will be 3 yrs yet before we know just how much light the treasures of the tomb shed on that age, the splendors of which are hinted at in passages of the Old Testament. To a man of Carnarvon's mind, the beauty of the objects themselves was secondary in importance to the translation of the hieroglyphs in the tomb and the pyramids which he had hoped to discover later in the sarcophagus or coffin of the mighty Egyptian ruler.

TIGHTWARDS.

What is a tightwad? Uncle Sam, in a booklet, defines him as "a man who saves 60 cents out of every dollar, and expends 37 cents of the balance for living expenses, and one cent each for education, recreation and alms."

The description might hold true in some cases. But how about the rich? Thousands of them would find it next to impossible, no matter how extravagant, to save less than 60 cents on the dollar.

You can't define a tightwad. It depends on the income of the individual, so it naturally varies. A poor man, ambitious to get ahead and accordingly saving 60 cents out of each dollar that comes his way, is a fox, not a tightwad.

The trouble is, too many of us save without a definite motive. The motive—Independence—usually exists until we are comfortably fixed. Then frugality is so firmly established as a habit that it becomes an obsession, form of mania.

How about a spendthrift? Uncle Sam describes him as a party who saves nothing, spends 53 cents out of each dollar on living expenses, 49 cents on recreation and one each for alms and education.

Doctors, specializing in endocrine glandology, will tell you that a dried-in-the-wool spendthrift is simply a man with the peculiar condition of the adrenal glands that keeps him absolutely fearless. A hero, for instance, is a spendthrift with his life. A coward is frugal with his life—more than frugal, miserly.

Always an interesting subject, this matter of how much we should save. Uncle Sam's booklet says that the normally thrifty man saves 20 cents out of each dollar, spends 50 cents on living expenses and 10 cents each on alms, recreation and education.

If you want to keep books—go on a budget basis—you might go about it this way: Decide to save 20 cents out of each dollar you receive. The scientific way to spend the balance, according to economists, is to divide each dollar you spend, like this:

For food ..... 43 cents
For shelter ..... 18 cents
For clothing ..... 13 cents
For fuel and light ..... 6 cents
Other expenses ..... 20 cents

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Vendetta begins between MICHAEL SAYERS, noted criminal, and SIR NORMAN GREY, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET, saves him from Sir Norman by shooting dead an officer sent to arrest him. Grey's fall in love with Janet and processes marriage.

Michael, disguised himself as Colonel Escombe and attended the wedding reception. Having stolen a pearl necklace, gift of Sir Norman to his bride, Sayers gives them to Beatrice to return to Janet. Michael answers a cipher message published in a paper and learns from the married wife of a politician, a bundle of manuscript, evidence against the woman's former husband, Lord Kindersley, that the reputations of a leading politician and Lord Kindersley are in his hands. Sayers promises the best way to turn his prize into money.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

Michael Tells Story:
"Not on my account," I insisted. "The transaction must remain exactly as it is until I give the word."

I rang off, filled my bag, as usual, with stationery-samples and took the tube to Bond Street, whence I walked on to South Audley Street. Upon arrival at my destination, I was informed by an imposing-looking butler that Lord Kindersley was at home, but it was scarcely likely that he would receive me unless I had an appointment. I risked the butler's being human, and bought my way as far as the waiting-room. Once arrived there, I managed to impress an untidy and bespectacled secretary with the idea that it might be worth Lord Kindersley's while to spare me a few minutes of his time. In the end I was ushered into the great man's sanctum.

"What can I do for you—Mr. Buckross?" he inquired, glancing at my card.

I was anxious to tell my new identity, and I stood full in the light. It was obvious, however, that Lord Kindersley had not an idea that we had ever met before.

"I have come to see you on a very serious matter, Lord Kindersley," I said, "and I am anxious that there should be no misunderstanding. I do not wish for a penny of your money. I am here, in fact, to save you from the loss of a great deal of it. My visit, nevertheless, has a very serious side."

He looked at me steadily from under his bushy eyebrows. "Go on," he invited curtly. "Last March," I continued, "you averted the threatened shipping strike and saved yourself the loss of at least one of your millions by bribing a well-known Labor leader to declare for peace instead of war. You and one other great shipowner were alone concerned in this matter. That other man, I gather, is dead."

Lord Kindersley was staring at me with a queer look in his eyes. His voice, when he answered me, was unsteady.

"What on earth are you talking about?" I took the two documents from my pocket and moved a little nearer to him. "Here," I said, "is Rendall's proposed speech, counseling the strike and signed by the leaders of the various unions. Here, also, is your letter to Rendall, making him the offer of 50,000 pounds to withdraw it which was paid to him the next evening at the National Liberal Club."

All the initial affability and cordiality had gone from Lord Kindersley's manner. He looked like a

RENDALL was, I believe, at heart, just as much of a coward as Kindersley, but he showed it in a different fashion.

"You lying blackmailer!" he shouted. "I am here to come here with such a story. Get out of the house, or I'll throw you down the steps."

"I have fulfilled my mission," I told him. "I shall be very glad indeed to go."

"Stop!" he shouted as I turned toward the door. "How did you come by this story?"

For these letters is predestined. They go to the press."

Lord Kindersley sprang to his feet. "Listen," he said impressively: "no newspaper would deal with you as liberally as I am prepared to do. Those documents must not be published. If it were generally known that I had—ah—influenced Rendall to hold up that speech, Labor would declare war against me tomorrow. Not a man would stay in my employ. Besides, it would bring disaster upon my party. It would ruin me politically as well as actually. Come, now, Mr. Buckcross, you look like a business man. Let's talk business. I'll write you a check for ten thousand pounds this morning."

"Your Lordship," I replied, "if I dealt with you in the way you suggest, it would amount to a criminal offense. My conscience forbids it. I can deal with the Press fairly and openly. Your political ruin I cannot help. Your financial ruin I can help you to modify. I offer you four days' grace during which time you had better get rid of as many of your shares in the Kindersley Shipping Company as you can."

"You promise to do nothing for four days?" Lord Kindersley exclaimed eagerly. "I promise."

He leaned back in his chair and mopped his forehead. "Well, that's a respite, at any rate," he said. "Now, Mr. Buckcross, you and I have got to understand each other on this deal."

"We shall never get any nearer understanding each other than we do at present," I assured him. "Rubbish!" he answered. "What I want you to do is to get that black-mailing idea out of your head. Look here: stay and have lunch with me, and we'll discuss the matter over a cigar and a glass of wine."

"I should be taking your lunch under false pretenses," I replied, rising and buttoning my coat. "You shall have the four days' grace which I have promised."

INCIDENT CLOSED

(By The Associated Press)
MOSCOW, April 4.—The execution of Vicar General Butchkavitch appears to be a closed incident so far as to the Russian government is concerned. From Catholic sources, it has learned that no reply has been made by the government to the request of the Roman Catholics of Moscow for permission to bury the vicar general in accordance with the rites of the church. Beyond a resolution adopted by the Kharkov Polish Workmen approving the execution, no mention is made of the affair by the Moscow press.

"Magellan of the Air!"

LONDON, April 5.—Striving to become the Magellans of the air, four British birdmen will hop off within a few weeks here in a quadrangular race to complete the first flight around the world.

It was in 1522—401 years ago—that a handful of the sailors who had started out with Ferdinand Magellan, Portuguese navigator, landed at Seville and completed the first circumnavigation of the globe after more than three years of cruising.

Today these four British expeditions will try with ships of the air to duplicate the achievement of the Magellan.

ONE: The expedition of Sir Keith Smith.

TWO: That headed by Alan J. Cobham.

THREE: A project in which R. H. McIntosh, Captain Tyndus and Captain A. McClelland will be associated.

FOUR: An expedition headed by Captain Norman MacMillan.

All four contestants plan to start late this month or early next month.

Because of the careful preliminary organization work being done by each of the four leaders, aviation experts here believe at least one expedition will reach its goal, if all of them do not.

Sir Keith Smith, it will be remembered, planned to start his flight around the world with his brother, Sir Ross Smith. But when Sir Ross lost his life in an accident, the project was abandoned.

Since that time Sir Keith has made a tour around the world, and he has inspected the route he intends to follow. He will use a Vickers-Viking plane with a Napier "Lion" engine.

Cobham is a famous de Havilland pilot who makes trips in the regular air passenger service between London and London. He will use a de Havilland 9 with a 240-horsepower Siddeley-Puma engine.

With him he will take Mackenzie Grieve as navigator. Grieve was with Hawker in his famous trans-Atlantic flight.

Cobham expects to make the flight in 60 days. He will fly from England across Central Europe to Constantinople via Vienna, thence via Aleppo to Bagdad, on to Calcutta, Shanghai, the Aleutian Islands and Vancouver. He'll fly across Canada to St. John's, N. F., and thence across the Atlantic to his starting point.

Bolet, Tyndus and McClelland will follow almost the same route. They will use a Fairley twin-tail seaplane with a Rolls-Royce "Candor" engine.

Captain MacMillan, fourth leader in the race, will use a 10,000 miles last year with Major Blake in the latter's attempt to fly around the world.

MacMillan will be accompanied by G. Mains who also was in the Blake expedition. They are backed by a London club which is building a machine, the dimensions and character of which are being kept secret.

The route MacMillan proposes is: From England via Italy, Greece, Egypt and Palestine to Bagdad, thence across India and Persia to Burma, China and Japan.

Then the expedition will cut across the edge of southern Siberia to the Aleutian Islands and around by southern Alaska to Vancouver.

Then MacMillan will cross the Canadian mainland to Halifax and will cross the Atlantic in a manner not heretofore attempted. V. Greenland, Scotland, then to London.

In preparation for the trip "advance agents" will place caches of food and gasoline on the uninhabited islands of the Aleutian and Kurile groups.

BUCHANAN IS NOMINATED BY THE DEMOCRATS

(By The Associated Press)
BRISTOL, Va.-Tenn., April 4.—B. F. Buchanan was nominated as the Democratic candidate for the Senate from Smyth and Washington counties Sunday evening. He was elected by a vote of 10 to 1. Walter Gray were nominated for the lower House at the county Senatorial and Legislative conventions held here today.

Mr. Duffness has represented Bristol in the Virginia lower House for the past two years and Mr. Gray has been the representative from Washington county. About 150 delegates from the two counties attended the conventions.

METHODISTS DO NOT FAVOR KLAN

HOLYOKE, Mass., April 4.—The Methodist Episcopal Church does not countenance the Ku Klux Klan, Bishop Edwin H. Hughes said today at the opening of the New England conference. He was led to make this statement in recognition of the fact, he said, that Mayor Cronin, a Roman Catholic, had displayed a liberal Christian spirit in overlooking distinction of creed in welcoming the conference. Bishop Hughes said that while the Methodists as individual were affiliated with many secret organizations, they did not for a minute countenance the class of activities for which the Ku Klux Klan stood.

Bored Chicago Girls Foiled In "Hike" To Coast

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 4.—Life for three Chicago maidens, still in their teens, in that metropolis was a humdrum, monotonous affair. The dances, other amusements and even the well-groomed youngsters who had occasionally escorted these sophisticated young misses on frolicsome ventures in the bustling Illinois city ceased to interest them in the slightest degree.

The trio—Myrtle Kruger, Mary Balough, and Susie Rule—were fast friends. They had lived in Chicago all their 18 years. Their venturesome souls sought excitement, and they decided to "chuck it all" and make a transcontinental hike to "sunny" California.

Started With $45 Fund.

Pooling their finances, the girls' fund totaled $45. According to Myrtle—of "Bob," as companions refer to her—the adventures began south from Chicago their first three days on the road. Their wardrobe consisted of khaki shirts, tight-fitting knickerbockers, canvas shoes and caps. They slept in haystacks, cowsheds, or deserted buildings.

"Bob" further related that Mary, Susie and she decided that "hiking" was far too slow a mode of travel. On the fourth day of the hike the girls clambered aboard a freight train. "A refrigerator car was our beauty parlor," Myrtle explained. "We were just a few miles distant from Kansas City when it was decided by my companions that my hair should be bobbed for safety's sake; and they cut my hair."

Their Trip Intercepted.

When the bold and beautiful maidens reached North Kansas City terminal authorities frustrated their plans for "excitement" and a hasty trip to the Pacific Coast. They were placed in the custody of a Y. W. C. A. matron.

Back in Chicago frantic parents were overjoyed when they received telegrams from the matron advising them of their children's whereabouts. Then it was but a short time until the matron received telegrams from Chicago, each of which contained instructions to care for their "wandering" child until someone arrived to see that the trio was returned to "dear" Chicago.

"Dad," said "Bob."

"See what somebody's always taking the joy out of life!" ruminated Mary.

"Yeh, that's life," said Susie.

L. & N. ANNOUNCES ITS NET INCOME

(By The Associated Press)

LOUISVILLE, April 4.—Net income of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company for 1922 was $10,585,019, equal to $14.83 a share, compared with a net loss of $336,961 in 1921, according to annual reports made at a meeting of stockholders today. One of the outstanding features is a showing of a decrease of $7,804,442 in operating expenses from the 1921 total through a saving of 25 per cent on labor and 75 per cent on materials and supplies.

Railway operating revenues were $121,158,840 as against $117,485,776 in 1921. The increase largely was due to a freight traffic increase of approximately 6,193,000 tons, even though the number of passengers carried decreased 223,077 under the previous year.

The stockholders representing 582,224 shares, approved the report, an announcement from the general offices of the company said, and re-elected the old directors.

G. O. P. Planning To Move Jackson's Statue Rumored

BY GEORGE H. MANNING
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 4.—Whose statue shall adorn the place of honor in Lafayette Square, across the way from the White House, for the President to gaze on from the front windows of the Executive Mansion?

This question, first raised a few weeks ago, when it became necessary to dismantle the equestrian statue of Washington for repairs, has aroused a storm of controversy in the Capital which has spread rapidly through the city. It has become a feature campaign issue, and the tariff will fade into ignominious insignificance.

It was recently discovered that the statue of one of the Presidents of the United States, who stood for many years in Washington circle had become dangerously corroded, and that the statue of the Father of his country in his noblest pose was being used as a spittoon for the city.

But no sooner had the statue been removed and started on its way to the first of the many statues in the city, than it was discovered that the statue of the Father of his country in his noblest pose was being used as a spittoon for the city.

Such was the proposal which has been made to the President, and which is being considered by the President. It is a proposal which has been made to the President, and which is being considered by the President.

As control over the district is vested in Congress, the proposition of the change should decide to push it. The vote, it is certain, would be closely parallel to party lines; and the Republican majority in the next Congress is very recent.

If, though, the change should actually be made, a precedent would be set which might be far-reaching in its consequences. If Andrew Jackson were replaced by George Washington, what then would there be to prevent George Washington from being replaced by Andrew Jackson, the next time the whims of the voters of the country should put the Democrats in power?

This, then, is at last the long-lost party issue, for which the voters of the country have been searching so long: Jackson or Washington?

Mrs. Romilla Stephens.

STOMACH TROUBLE?

Take This Advice.
Martha, W. Va., "I was all run-down in health and was so weak I could hardly go. Had stomach trouble gas would gather and my heart bothered me. I would have to sit up in the bed at night and belch. My nervous system was all run-down too; it seemed I could not endure the least noise. I tried a good many kinds of medicine, but didn't get much relief until I began using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Favorite Prescription, and Pleasant Pellets. Now, I can say I feel almost like a new person. I have also used the Golden Medical Discovery for throat trouble and found it good."

What's Going on in the World

WEEK'S CHIEF EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD

By Charles P. Stewart
THAT France will fail to overcome Germany's resistance to her Ruhr plans is a thing the Paris government isn't afraid of a bit, according to Gallic spokesmen.

It's acknowledged that the French aren't getting as much coal as before they entered the Ruhr. It isn't disputed that the invasion has been expensive. It's conceded that the government has had to overcome considerable opposition at home.

All that doesn't bother them, the French leaders say. They declare Germany has suffered so much more acutely than France that even now she's on the verge of yielding. When she does so, the French expect to get back all they put into the enterprise, and more too.

That is to say, that's what they expect, provided they're left to affect their own settlement with the Germans. What they fear is that somebody'll try to "but in."

At any rate, so the Paris press says.

Outside Help Isn't Wanted.

The view expressed by the French newspapers is that their country bore the brunt of the war, won it, and then other countries that took part in the peace negotiations coddled her out of a lot of the advantages she'd claimed of she'd made her own terms with Germany.

The press is fearful now. France having shouldered all the expense and trouble and taken all the risks of the Ruhr occupation that outsiders will try again to prevent her from getting the full benefit of that, too.

Some of the papers say quite frankly, is why the French are so suspicious of mediation. They have an idea the mediators will do more about their own interests than they will about France's.

They mention this as the main reason why a settlement's delayed.

Burma's Wealth of Oil.

Just as he was leaving the cabinet ex-Secretary of the Interior Fall charged that a conspiracy, including interests in every important country but this one, exists to gobble up the whole world's oil supply, exhaust America's and then lay the United States under tribute for every gallon she has to have in future.

Now, only a few days later, comes England's announcement that her government was mistaken awhile ago when it declared everybody but Britons barred from looking for oil in Burma, which is supposed to be very rich in such deposits.

England laid claim to a Burma monopoly under an arrangement said to have been made by Queen Victoria and Lord Salisbury. In the days when he was her prime minister.

But the latest statement is to the effect that the queen's and his lordship's signatures to the papers this claim was based on, are found to be bogus. So if Americans want to hunt for oil in Burma, they're welcome to, so far as England's concerned.

In some quarters there's a disposition to question whether this discovery ever would have been made for Secretary Fall's accusations.

There are prospects of another oil controversy in Asiatic Turkey.

In 1909 an American syndicate, headed by Colby M. Chester, a retired admiral, got a concession from the sultan covering what's supposed to be a very rich oil district around Lake Van.

Before this syndicate got to work the war started. Nothing could be done while it lasted. Then the old imperial Turkish government was overthrown. The new regime repudiated a good many of the old one's acts, but the news comes now that the Angora council of ministers has decided the Chester concession is all right. The Turkish parliament seems likely to concur.

The British thought they had an oil monopoly in Asiatic Turkey, and they're almost certain to be more than disappointed if they learn they haven't.

In this dispute with the British it's a good guess that Americans will take the Turkish side.

No American League.

North Americans at the Pan American conference at Santiago, Chile, made a good start by opposing Uruguay's proposed league of American nations.

There wasn't a chance of the scheme's endorsement by the more important South American countries and before any of them except Chile had had time to say so, Chairman Fletcher of the North American group declared his country unfavorable to leagues, thus forestalling at least on one ground, the frequently made South American complaint that the United States seeks to dominate the New World.

Pan America narms limitation looks difficult.

Chile wants reduction. Argentina the status quo. Brazil army and navy increases. There are the three big adornments, and the company which is headed by Gertrude Vanderbilt, is of the high quality that is to be expected in a Belasco production. Among the well known players in the organization are Charles Hammond, David Glassford, Thomas M. Reynolds, Day Manson, Harry Alexander, Leoline Lull, Winifred Barry, Cora Williams, Daisy Rudd and Sally Bergman.

BEILIGERENT PHEASANT NIPS ATTENDANT AT ZOO

MONROE, Conn., April 4.—A ring-neck pheasant entered the chicken yards of Sheriff J. Frank Olmstead here, slew two setting hens and was clucking into a rooster that went to the hens' aid when members of the family rushed out and threw a net over the wild intruder. When the bird, caged, was carried to the Bridgeport Zoo as a present an employee at the Zoo nearly had a finger nail taken off when he poked his finger into the cage.

KING TUT AFFECTED WOMEN, BUT MEN WON'T CHANGE

KING TUT failed to affect men's fashions as much as he did women's.

But this spring will see an amazing blaze of color on both sexes. Yellow and Nile green neckties will blossom alongside those of cherry and henna. The Prince of Wales' Shetland sweater, with all the tints of the spectrum, will be repeated here generally.

But with coats, suits and shoes men will remain quite conservative. There will be double and single-breasted coats and full, cuffed trousers with flaps pockets. Stripes will be more popular than checks and brown this season.

GERMAN SECRET ORGANIZATION QUITE ACTIVE

(By The Associated Press)
ESSEN, April 4.—A German secret organization, known as the "Steel Helmet," is becoming increasingly active in the Ruhr, according to the French intelligence service. Headquarters are said to be in this city, and the French assert the object of the organization is to prepare for armed measures against the French. The Nationalists are said to be financing the organization.

A carload of revolvers, rifles and other weapons, together with a quantity of ammunition, all shipped as "milk" has been confiscated by the Belgians near Doornik. German Communists say the shipment was intended for the "Steel Helmet."

GRETTA NEWS NOTES

GRETTA, Va., April 4.—Easter passed very quietly here, although a very large crowd, mostly from the country, was on the streets practically all day Monday. There was no preaching here Sunday except at the Episcopal church Sunday night.

Gretta High school reopened Tuesday with all the teachers present except Miss Laura Bennett who has been confined to her home for several days on account of sickness. Many of the pupils were absent on account of measles which is very prevalent here.

Mrs. V. A. Motley has been quite ill with measles for the past few days. Katherine Roach, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Roach, of Whittles died at her home several days ago from measles and pneumonia. Mr. Roach had recently lost his home by fire. It seems that the old adage "Trouble never comes single handed" and "when it rains it pours" are very true sayings.

Mr. Wade H. Ramsey, of near Brights has smallpox. He had not seen well for several days but it was thought that he was suffering from other causes until he broke out Sunday.

Miss Lola Pearson spent Easter at her home near Callands and in Danville.

Mrs. Edwin Fitzgerald spent Easter at the home of her parents near Richmond.

The beautiful home together with several very desirable building lots at W. H. Burton in West Gretna will be sold at public auction next Tuesday April 10 by Paul Realty Company.

Russell Moon of Roanoke was guest of home folks here Easter.

Mrs. Melvin Seruaga was called to Red Wood last week to see her mother who is ill.

Miss Jeanette Tarboro of Danville, was recent guest of Miss Doris Doss. Ramon Alice who has been ill with flu is much improved.

The United States, having loaned experts to build up Brazil's navy, isn't in a position to urge limitation.

U. S. Toasted Brown.

For perhaps the most pungent criticism ever published of this country's methods in South America, the media goes to Vice President H. C. Zwetich of the bond hour of A. B. "To South America the Yankee peril looms far more deadly than the Japanese over did to California."

"South America never has had confidence in us, nor reason to have."

"We've tried to make South Americans into our pattern, not adapted ours to suit them."

"THE GOLD DIGGERS" TUESDAY.

Last Big Show of the Season at the Majestic Theatre.

Danville will have its first opportunity to see Avery Hopwood's enormously successful comedy, "The Gold Diggers," which is produced by David Belasco, and which comes here after runs of two years in New York and a season in Chicago, when it comes to the Majestic Theatre on Tuesday, April 10th.

Mr. Hopwood, in this play, deals with a phase of metropolitan life that is alluring to the many, but that is known to the few—except, of course, those who are themselves an actual part of it. This life so brilliantly and humorously pictured in "The Gold Diggers" is that of the typical New York chorus girl in her hours of ease, when she addresses herself to the business of advancing her social, financial and sentimental interest. The unusual atmosphere of the play has afforded Mr. Belasco abundant opportunity for novel and striking stage

Bandit Makes His Escape From Athens Hospital

(By The Associated Press)

ATHENS, Ga., April 4.—Gerald Chapman, leader of the gang who staged the $1,000,000 mail robbery in New York in 1921, escaped from the St. Mary's hospital here tonight.

Chapman staged a sensational escape from the Athens two high penitentiary last week and was recaptured near here following a gun battle with officers which resulted in his being badly wounded.

A nurse took Chapman's temperature at 9-10 o'clock and found it to register 100. Deputy Sheriff McCarthy, who was detailed to guard Chapman, stepped from the room. The prisoner got out of bed, put on a suit of clothes belonging to McCarthy, tied bed sheets together and leaped from the window. McCarthy's clothes were in a handbag. From all indications Chapman was fully dressed with the exception of a hat when he leaped out of the window. Doctors do not believe Chapman is strong enough to exert himself to any extent. Unless he was furnished with an automobile, they say, he will be unable to proceed far on foot.

A ticket seller at the union station reported to the police that two well dressed men rushed up to his window a few minutes before the departure of an eastbound train and bought tickets for New York City. Their descriptions answered that of two men seen hanging around the hospital during the day. A taxicab driver also said they wanted to hire him to make a trip to the hospital shortly after nine o'clock.

Chapman, with Frank Gray, another prisoner, escaped from a hospital ward at the Atlanta penitentiary recently by scaling two high walls. They made their way into Atlanta and that evening left there in a taxicab, catching a northbound freight train on the outskirts of this city.

the outskirts of this city. A conductor ordered them off the train and later reported the matter to a policeman at the next station. The officer engaged the men in a pistol duel causing Gray to surrender and Chapman falling with three wounds. Chapman leaped from a window on the second floor of the hospital, his body landing heavily in a garden below. He disappeared before the guards could get out of the institution. The prisoner was being treated for bullet wounds in the kidneys and in the arm. A deputy sheriff was guarding Chapman. He said the prisoner made the leap when his back was turned.

NEWS BROADCAST (By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., April 4.—Federal penitentiary officials tonight began broadcasting from its radio station a description of Gerald Chapman, the prisoner who escaped during the night from a hospital at Athens, Ga. Prison guards and local deputy sheriffs immediately left for Athens to join the man-hunt.

HELP-FOR GIRLS WHO WORK

Mrs. Lodic Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Tyrone, Pa.—"A friend told my husband how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped her wife, so my husband bought me a bottle because I was so run-down, had a nervous weakness, no strength in my body and pains in my left side so bad that I could hardly do my work. Before I was married I used to work in the factory, and I had pains just the same then as I have had since I have been a housewife. I would not be without a bottle in the house now. It has stopped the pains all right and I have found out that it is a wonderful body builder, as it has made me well and strong. It is going to be the 'old reliable' with me hereafter, and I am always willing to tell other women how it has helped me. You can use this letter as you wish as I can honestly say that my words are true."

Mrs. M. Lodic, R.F.D. No. 4, Box 40, Tyrone, Pa.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Tobacconists Cross Bats With Reading Here Today

Danville Plays Reading Club This Afternoon

Marooned by the downpour of Wednesday afternoon, the ball game between the Reading International League club and the Danville club, had to be postponed although there is every likelihood of the clubs playing this afternoon at 3:30 at Stone-wall Jackson Park.

The Reading club, under the management of Spencer A. Abbott, frebrand of the Southern league for the last two seasons, when he led Memphis, arrived in the city about 12:30 yesterday, with a party of twenty players.

In the Reading party are several ball players who are familiar in big league circles. Fred Thomas, third baseman, was with the Boston Red Sox in one of their "world's" series triumphs. Frank Gilhooly, the leading hitter of the International league last season was with the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees.

The famous one with the Reading party, however, is Al Schacht, the pitcher-manager. Schacht is a partner to Nick Altrock, the greatest of all baseball clowns, with the Washington American league club for several seasons. He was bought last year by the Reading club and has been a big hit on the International league circuit.

There are fans in Danville, who have attended the last two world's series in New York and there they saw Schacht and Altrock do some of their funny stunts amusing the thousands before the big classic was played. Schacht will bring some of his funny stunts to the local park this afternoon. He is likely to pitch part of the game against the local club.

Manager Herb Murphy had his team working out in a tobacco warehouse yesterday, while the rain was soaking up the field. The hustling local manager believes in keeping his men in shape, especially when he is to meet a club like Reading, and if the local club is successful in defeating the visiting athletes today, they will be pretty near capturing the Piedmont pennant in the Tobaccoists.

Reading can put a line-up on the field this afternoon of players, every one of whom has been in the big leagues.

It is likely that "Nig" Clark, the former Cleveland catcher, will do the receiving for Reading.

The Reading team is training at Henderson, N. C., and the exciting games played thus far, they have yet to taste defeat.

Special attention is directed to the hour of the game, 3:30 p. m.

Around the Clock With a Poilu

AROUND THE CLOCK WITH DEQUE IN THE RUHR. 1. UP AT 5 A. M.; 2. BREAKFAST IN BED; 3. ON DUTY; 4. LUNCH; 5. PATROLLING THE STREET; 6. WITH NO PLACE TO GO, LOUIS GOES TO BED EARLY. (PHOTOS BY BOB DORMAN.)

BY BOB DORMAN
NEA Service Camera Correspondent
BIOCHUM, Germany, April 5.—Al- though he has breakfast in bed every morning, the life of the French soldier in the Ruhr is not one of ease. Boycotted by the native population he is out of all the amenities of civil life. His time is entirely taken up by military duties with all its routine and monotony. Yet the poilu does it smiling, making the best of it.

To see just how he lives, I spent a day with Louis Deque, corporal of the First Machine Gun Company of the 16th Regiment of Infantry.

Awakened at 5 a. m. by the bugler, Louis had his breakfast—coffee, sausage and bread—in bed. A quick dressing, and he was ready for the day. He was on duty. In the French army that means 24 hours on and 24 off. His 24 hours of duty are divided into periods of two hours' active duty and four hours in the guard room.

Dressed and fed, Louis acted as sentry in front of headquarters for two hours. Back in the guard room, he played cards with his companions. He ate his dinner, at the table, served by the soldiers in the kitchen.

Back to active service, he was sent with a patrol through the streets. Free once more, he repaired a rent in his clothes. So it went. Night came. Two hours' sleep; then, a few winks of sleep, snatched during his four off hours; morning again, and Louis was free—free to sleep, to wash his clothes, to walk about the streets.

But not free to enter a shop to spend his few hard-earned francs, nor to see a picture show, nor to indulge in a mild flirtation with a passing frau. For Louis is one of the hated French, an abomination in German eyes.

Rowing Crews Are Behind Schedule

BY LAWRENCE PERRY
(Copyright, 1923, By The Bee)

NEW YORK, April 5.—In the preliminary outdoor work of the various university crews—excluding Washington and California on the Pacific coast—it is today established beyond pre-adventure, that all crews are from ten days to three weeks behind time in their practice under actual rowing conditions because of the dilatory action of old winter in removing himself from the lap of Spring. Even the Navy at Annapolis and Pennsylvania on the Schuylkill have been handicapped by biting winds if not by ice, while the plans of Wisconsin to send an eight-oared crew to Poultkeeps this year have been abruptly disrupted because of the late clearing of ice from Lake Mendota. Cayuga Lake is still frozen and Lake Carnegie at Princeton, usually one of the first rowing courses to be released from the shackles of winter, was ice bound until only a short while ago. The other day when the writer saw the crews at work the choppy waters, the flying spindrift and the nipping and eager winds suggested more a scene in Baffin's Bay than upon Princeton's ordinarily amiable lawn. Cornell rowers are still at work on the machines.

None the less, since adverse conditions are affecting all the nine eastern, southern and western rowing institutions regattas of the present month will see a fairly even start, a condition which does not always exist in this sport. So far as competition is concerned there should be a great many thrilling regattas with not a little additional interest injected by installation at Harvard, Yale, Washington and the Navy of new coaches, and, in at least two cases, of new systems of rowing. At Yale the Cordery Brothers, of England, have been supplanted by Edward Leader, the successful Washington coach. At Harvard Dr. R. Heber Howe has given place to Frank T. Muller, whose greatest fame was gained as a sculler and as a coach at the Vesper boat club in Philadelphia.

GARCIA BEATS KID WILLIAMS

(By The Associated Press)
BALTIMORE, Md., April 4.—Bob Garcia of Camp Holabird, champion featherweight of the United States, tonight was awarded the decision over Kid Williams, former bantamweight champion of the world, in the ninth round of a scheduled 12 round match, when Williams was disqualified by the referee for hitting low. Williams had been warned several times for hitting foul punches and when Garcia fell to the floor after being hit low, Williams was disqualified. An unofficial summary of rounds prior to the disqualification showed Garcia had five rounds and Williams three and one was even. Williams weighed 123 1/2 and Garcia 125.

PENN STATE WINS
(By The Associated Press)
WILLIAMSBURG, Va., April 4.—Penn State won easily over William and Mary in the track meet here today, the score being 113-13, to 21-23. The Penn State athletes were the victors in most of the running events but the Indians won first and third places in the javelin, second and third in the shot put and second and third in the high jump.

Palm of Penn State was the high scorer with 14 points.

CASE AGAIN GETS FOOTBALL DATE WITH MICHIGAN
ANN ARBOR, April 4.—The recent decision of Western Conference officials to adopt an eight-game football schedule this fall, enabled the University of Michigan to keep from upsetting a precedent that has stood for well nigh onto a quarter of a century.

In other words, it permitted the Wolverines to book a game with the Case Scientific School of Cleveland, which institution has season after season appeared at Ann Arbor.

Case had previously been left off the card when the usual allotment of seven games had already been filled.

But now the little Case eleven is certain to help the Yostens pry open the 1922 gridiron lid just as it has done in many other seasons.

Case has never defeated the Wolverines, though in 1910 they succeeded in holding the Michigan team to a 3-3 tie.

The recent blizzard sweeping the middle west and east took the lives of two trainmen when this double-header hit a snowbank 15 feet deep near Barlow, N. D. The train battled for hours against huge drifts, but a first locomotive, this one crushed the rotary snowplow and derailed it.

Trexler Signs Up and Others Come

Manager Murphy of the Danville baseball team yesterday began reducing the number of his try-outs and incidentally eliminating the useless expenses of the training season by handing pink slips to some of the men whom he did not deem of Piedmont League calibre. In some cases the applicants for berths on the local team may make good elsewhere, but most of them need more experience. Those released yesterday were Outfielder Dodson and Zanzalla, Infielders Kelly and Kennedy, and Pitcher McKittrick. This reduction of the squad still leaves the management with a surplus of pitchers, but these can be used to advantage in the training period and some of them may pay dividends as boxmen. The squad was augmented by three more arrivals yesterday. They are Pitcher Fowler of Jacksonville, Pitcher Culp, a big right-hander from Charlotte, who is well recalled in the Piedmont League, and Schulte, an outfielder of Mobile. These two hurlers, with the boxmen already here, should enable the management to select a good pitching staff.

Outfielder Trexler, for three seasons a Piedmont Leaguer and who had his best season last year, has sent in his signed contract. He, with Egan and Kerlin, now seem likely to make up the outfield. Trexler is a versatile player who can hold down an infield position, if the exigencies of the season demand. If Earl Worth reports he will probably be assigned to the outfield, unless Mallan prove a disappointment in the first sack.

The local fans and doubtless the manager also are pleased with the showing of Dorman, especially with his hitting. If he can maintain such a clip at the bat he will make the team a valuable man.

Trexler will not report for a week or ten days yet, but meanwhile there is ample material from which to select a capable trio of gardeners. Pitcher Leo Harris is a good hitting outfielder in an emergency. Kerlin is another who hits and has been noteworthy in other games of this week he will doubtless be an outfield fixture. Schulte will have a chance to show his wares and will probably be in this afternoon's game against Raleigh.

The pitching squad still here includes Harris, Fowler, Culp, Hughes, Cardinal, Cress, Toles, Jensen and Harmon. Pitcher Egan, who is an attorney now and may not play ball this season. He is located at Raleigh, and it is not unlikely that a trade may be arranged with the Raleigh team, in which another pitcher will figure.

With the batting strength which will include Manager Murphy, Catcher Land, Pitcher Harris, Outfielders Regan, Schulte and Kerlin; Infielders Allison, Dorman, Mallan, McEnroe, and the pick of pitching staff, the Tobaccoists ought to be able to put up a stiff fight even against the more seasoned Reading International.

Manager Murphy will spare no effort to provide a strong team and one which will be in the fight all the way. If he is unable to select a sufficiently strong aggregation from the "Goats" his name will be a weak spot derelicts, he will undertake to plug it effectively.

YESTERYEARS IN SPORT

Ten years ago, on April 5, 1913, the New York Americans worked out at the Polo Grounds, which they will share for the season with the Giants.

Rumors start that horse-racing will be revived in New York state. Twenty-five years ago, on April 5, 1898, E. L. Featherstone of Lexington bought the famous grape stander, Senator A. from C. E. Alexander of Des Moines.

HUNTER MEETS RESISTANCE
(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 4.—Francis T. Hunter, New Rochelle national champion, met stiff resistance in the fourth round of the indoor tennis championship tournament than any time so far, but came off victorious over Morris S. Clark, New York, 6-4, 6-2. Clark pressed him closely in every game.

ASHEVILLE DEFEATED.
CHICAGO, April 4.—Weston, Idaho, won from Asheville, N. C., champions, 49 to 23. The score at the half was 26 to 8 in favor of Weston. The North Californians took a spurt early in the second half but were unable to overcome the big lead.

JOE SHIMKUS AND KILONIS TO MEET ON MAT ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Local wrestling fans will have another opportunity of seeing what is expected to be a good bout tomorrow night at the Municipal Hall when Joe Shimkus will meet John Kilonis at the Municipal Hall. These two light-heavyweights will be seen together for the first time. Kilonis has a good record as a matman and Shimkus who has been a champion of the world, tomorrow night after having defeated Joe Turner at Greensboro on Tuesday night. In that contest Shimkus won two out of three falls from the mid-dleweight belt-holder of Washington after an hour and a half's work. Shimkus won the first fall on a head-

WIND AND HAIL WREAK DAMAGE

(By The Associated Press)
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4.—A wind and hail storm that for a few minutes drove everything before it, completely demoralized traffic here this afternoon. Trees, electric wires and fences suffered the greatest damage. Street railway traffic was tied up for a short while. Truck farms on the outskirts of the city suffered a great deal. Several horses and mules at different dairies in the suburbs were killed. Hail as large as hen eggs fell on Broad street, and window lights and windshields in automobiles suffered greatly from icy bombardment. No persons are known to have been hurt.

BROOKLYN'S FITTING STAFF IS ONLY HOPE OF DODGER MANAGER

Only one of the many pitching recruits now being tried out by Brooklyn looks to be ready for the big show.

Leo Dickerman, purchased from the Memphis club of the Southern League for $10,000, is the athlete in question. He is a tall right hander, with plenty of stuff, and appears to have an excellent chance to stick.

Dickerman, toiling for Memphis, Tenn., which finished second in the Southern Association race, won 20 games and lost only seven for that club. He is the only finished-looking product among the hurling "raucous" and is likely to win a number of games for Brooklyn.

The burden of the Brooklyn club's showing will unquestionably be upon the pitchers. Robinson is banking strongly on Grimes and Reuther. Reuther looks in fine shape. Dutch is a great golfer, spends much of his time on the links during the winter, which probably accounts for his good condition.

Reuther is signed to a sliding contract that calls for extra money in case he wins 15 games or better. Dutch says he is shooting at the 20 mark in games won, which, he said, will mean an increase of about $1500 on the year for the south-paw.

Burlie Grimes, Leon Cadore, Al Mamaux, Dazzy Vance and Arthur Deacon, in addition to Reuther, will carry the hopes of the Dodgers. It is a mighty fine staff, but pitchers require assistance in the field, and at bat to win.

BRITISH CLERGYMAN SAYS U. S. BAKES IN ITS HOMES AND FREEZES IN STREET

LONDON, April 4.—"It's a terrible country, America! You may set that down on the word of a cleric, one of England's most distinguished."

Rev. H. R. L. Sheppard, Vicar of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, recently visited the United States and wrote to his friends in London as follows: "We both have violent colds, which I do not think will disappear until we get back to the dear land of fog."

"It is impossible to shake a cold when life is spent hurrying from a steam-heated room into an ice-bound street and back again. These kindly and dear Americans have a way of getting frozen in their streets and then having themselves in their noses until they have to drink iced water and get cool."

YOU CAN ALMOST HEAR WHAT EBERT'S SAYING

Here's an action story by Bob Dorman, NEA Service Camera Correspondent, of President Ebert's address at Hamm, the nearest he could safely approach the territory occupied by the French. The streets were jammed with miners and steel workers. "We are defenseless," Ebert told them. "We can employ only passive resistance. Germany depends on you to hold out as bravely, as firmly, as quietly and as reasonably as hitherto. We have the will and the strength to hold out."

PREPARE TO EXECUTE NAVAL TREATY NOW

BLIND AND DEAF YET HE'S PRODIGY AT SEVEN

(Special to The Bee.)
STOIX FALLS, S. D., April 5.—Tad Chapman, 7, has earned the title of "South Dakota's little wonder." Because Tad, though deaf and blind since he was 3, leads as active a life as any boy of his age—and is far brighter than many of his older fellow-pupils in the State School for the Deaf here.

Tad knows 90 commands and can take them in combination and the names of 150 objects.

His spoken vocabulary consists of 138 nouns and pronouns, 42 verbs and 5 adjectives. He can count to 10 and knows the combinations to 10.

He knows 20 question forms and the expressions—"Goodnight," "How do you do?" "Thank you," "You are welcome," and the like.

Tad has made marked progress with the typewriter, using sandpaper letters as a basis. He knows all the keyboard motions and can write sentences like: "I hopped, I ran, I fell, I bounced a ball."

Tad can dance, too, and in the winter enjoys a snowman on the grounds as well as the boys that have their sight.

SANLEY'S BODY NOT RECOVERED

(By The Associated Press.)
PETERSBURG, Va., April 4.—Efforts to recover the body of Joseph Stanley, who is believed to have been drowned last night when his automobile plunged into the millpond in Swift's Creek near here, proved unavailing today. Working in relays, a number of men spent the entire day and a portion of the night in ceaseless dragging of the pond, but no trace of the body was found.

Stanley, whose home was in Richmond, started for the country late Tuesday, according to members of his family in search of work. He rented an automobile from a Richmond garage.

About ten o'clock this morning, persons passing the millpond in Swift's Creek, were attracted by an automobile top floating on the water. Investigation disclosed the machine submerged in the pond. A hat and coat, similar to those worn by Stanley, were found on the banks of the creek. A few papers, including a receipt for a premium on a life insurance policy, were also found.

Several patches of hair were found on the windshield of the submerged automobile, which was returned to its owner in Richmond late today.

GARDEN vegetables for the most part have to be planted every year. Asparagus and rhubarb, however, are the most permanent vegetables and are deserving of a place in small gardens wherever soil and climate are suitable.

The planting of these crops is but the first step. They must have proper fertilization, cultivation and care at all times.

Asparagus stores energy in its fleshy roots during the summer and is one of the first plants to grow in the spring. Its tender shoots are a real delicacy early in spring. Asparagus may be grown practically everywhere in the United States, but especially along the sea coast and where the rainfall is reasonably heavy.

Important in starting an asparagus bed is to get good, strong, one-year plants of "crowns" as they are called. A bed of asparagus 12 by 12 feet in size containing about 50 plants set 18 inches apart in each direction is about right for the small garden. Before setting the plants, which may be done either in the spring or the fall, the ground should be trenched by throwing the surface soil to one side then spading three or four inches of manure into the bottom layer so the soil will be worked and fertilized to a depth of 12 or 14 inches. About 8 to 10 pounds of coarse bone meal should also be sprinkled over the lower strata of soil and worked into it with the manure.

A little of the surface soil is spread over the manured subsoil and the crowns placed in position. About half or two-thirds of the remaining surface soil is the shoveled over the crowns, taking care to see that their roots are spread evenly in all directions. The remaining soil is piled to one side and later filled in after the plants have started to grow.

Three-Year Growth.
No cutting should be made from the asparagus bed until the third year in order to give the plants a chance to become well established. After the third year the bed may be cut for a period of about 6 or 8 weeks. After the cutting period is over the plants should be fertilized with good manure and commercial fertilizer.

During the summer the plants are frequently stripped by the little asparagus beetles or more particularly by the small dark colored slugs that pull the first year's growth. These slugs can be poisoned by spraying or dusting the plants with arsenate of lead or with paris green.

Rhubarb is not so well adapted to growing everywhere as it requires hard freezing during the winter to make it healthy and vigorous. Like asparagus, however, rhubarb stores energy in its roots all through the summer, then with the first signs of spring it makes one grand appearance in the form of tender leaf stems.

Rhubarb is started by planting pieces of root having at least one good bud or eye. Five or six hills produce enough for the average family, but the hills soon become too thick and require dividing. It is a good plan to have a few new hills coming on as to leaves should be pulled the first year. In some sections, rhubarb will give splendid yields for 15 to 20 years, but as a rule 7 or 8 years is about the limit without resetting.

No Arrest Near In King Murder

Suspect Watched 24 Hours a Day, Say Police, But Evidence Is Lacking.

NEW YORK, April 4.—With relays of detectives maintaining a 24-hour vigil on the movements of the suspect in the Dorothy King murder case, Inspector Coughlin said yesterday an arrest now would be premature because his men have not obtained sufficient evidence to warrant holding the suspect on a homicide charge.

Both he and Capt. Carey of the Homeless Bureau gave assurance their investigation was producing results and that they would soon have a complete case, but they were vague as to when that would be. Three weeks—lacking a day—had elapsed since Miss King was found chloroformed in her apartment at No. 144 West 57th street.

In their effort to round up her friends for questioning, the police have arined many gay parties at Atlantic City, one of Miss King's favorite resorts. She spent the week preceding the murder there. She registered alone, but the police believe she had a rendezvous with some body.

They have just learned of an escapade at the Rialto which resulted in the arrest of Miss King and two men. It occurred April 16, 1922, and followed a quarrel in Miss King's room.

Miss King is said to have been entertaining E. Kenneth Crawford, a man who was charged with the murder of Dorothy King, and two men. It occurred April 16, 1922, and followed a quarrel in Miss King's room.

Wrappy Silk Coats in Novelty Crepe Weaves

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

WRAPPY coats of silk, especially in the novelty of crepe weaves, seem especially appropriate for summer or afternoon wear as they are suggestive of elegance without a great deal of weight. Kasha cloth is also appropriate and especially desirable for early spring wear.

This lovely model is of brown Canton crepe embroidered in tones of tan and brown, the thread being wool and moss, conched on to give a flat, smooth effect. The simplicity of the collar and sleeves is characteristic of the new coat styles. If a serviceable coat is desired, the embroidery may be omitted and plain cloth used with a plain or decorative lining.

Hand-dyed crepe in smart, mottled pattern is used to drape the side crown of this medium-sized, robe of tan felt.

A Puzzle a Day

A man is 71 years old and his son is 34. At what age was the father three times the age of his son? At what age will the father be twice as old as the son?

Yesterday's answer:

- 1 OATS
- 2 COATS
- 3 COLTS
- 4 BOLTS
- 5 BELTS
- 6 BEETS
- 7 BEARS
- 8 FEARS

Above are shown the different changes made in the sign by the various merchants who occupied the store. The clothing merchant added a "C" to "Oats." The gunsmith changed the "A" to "L," and one letter was changed successively by the hardware dealer, the second clothing merchant, the grocer, the animal dealer and finally the fruit merchant.
